zealous" in protecting the Jews of the Williamsburg area from anti-Semitic physical attacks, which have been frequent in this section recently. The paper reports that stones are thrown at Jewish passersby and bearded residents are attacked on their way from synagogue.

Joseph Beauharnais, formerly head of Chicago's racist "White Circle League" who helped instigate the Cicero and other anti-Negro and anti-Semitic riots last year, is back again as chairman of a new racist organization, "Nationalist Party." He had been fined $200 for promoting the anti-Negro riots. His new organization agitates for "race purity" and calls the Negroes "beasts." Governor Stevenson was urged to take action under the laws of Illinois.

After 17 hours of debate on September 8 at a plenary session of the National Community Relations Advisory Council (NCRAC), coordinating agency of Jewish defense organizations, representatives of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League decided to withdraw from NCRAC. The body had approved reassignment of fields of work among the Jewish agencies and control of planning of all community relations work, by a vote of 54 to 17. The council of the four occupying powers of Austria—the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union—on August 29 vetoed the laws passed on July 17 by the Austrian Parliament which would facilitate return to nazis of property stolen from Jews and taken from nazis since the war's end. Other laws vetoed were one to amnesty all nazis and another to give compensation to nazis. United States Commissioner Walter Dowling stated that this country has no objection to amnesty but opposed this before compensation is paid to nazi victims. Soviet council representative Lieut. Gen. Vadim P. Sviridov delivered a scathing condemnation before the council on August 29 of the failure of Austria to democratize the country in accordance with Allied directives.

A new synagogue to replace one destroyed by the nazis will be consecrated in October in Erfurt in East Germany. Acting Minister-President Otto Nuschke will be present on behalf of the East German government.

A rumor published in the New York Times on June 25 that noted Czechoslovak novelist Franz Weiskopf, former Czech ambassador to the new China and a Jew, was "under arrest," was proved false when a letter dated July 14 was received from Weiskopf by his old friend A. B. Magil stating that he (Weiskopf) has just finished a book on New China which will be published soon.

A State Prize was awarded in August to Jacob Rotbaum, director of the Polish Jewish State Theater, for his production of the play Man with a Gun. Also awarded prizes were Jewish actor Joseph Viretzki and playwright Hillel Buzgan.

Renazification notes . . . Desert Fox, Hollywood film glorifying nazi General Rommel, is being shown in West Germany with "great success" over vigorous protests of Jewish organizations. . . . Hitler's former personal interpreter, Dr. Paul Schmidt, was elected head of the Munich Linguistic and Interpreters Institute in August. . . . Anti-Semitic leaflets sporting swastikas were distributed in south-east Bavaria in August. . . . Seven tombstones of the Jewish cemetery at Niederzissen, the Rhineland, were overturned in early August. . . . Nazi Herbert Dittman, director of the West German Diplomatic School, who was dismissed after a report on nazis in the West German Parliament was issued recently, was replaced by Peter Pfeiffer—also a former Nazi Party member.

ISRAEL

The Knesset passed a bill on August 26 by a vote of 54 to 13 permitting the government to issue licenses for oil prospecting to local and foreign companies. The bill was opposed by the Communist Party and Mapam. The opposition attempted to amend the bill to exclude foreigners and to give exclusive rights to a national group in order to avoid oil imperialism in Israel.

Dr. Israel Herzog, chief rabbi of Israel, held an interview in Johannesburg with racist South African Premier Dr. Malan which was described as "cordial." Upon leaving, Dr. Herzog bestowed the customary "blessing" on Dr. Malan in Hebrew and invited him to visit Israel.

Elections to the Labor Council of Beersheba and Ramleh, both populated by new immigrants, had the following results: in Beersheba: Mapai, 11 seats, Mapam, 4, General Zionists, 1, Progressive, 1; in Ramleh: Mapai, 9 seats, Mapam, 5; Communists, 2, Achdut Ha'avoda, 1.

An "economy" measure instituted in Israel with the opening of the school year in September, cuts school time from two to four hours a week and teachers are asked to teach two more hours a week without overtime pay.

Compulsory military service in Israel was extended six months by a Knesset vote on August 26. In opposition were the Communist Party and Mapam, who charged that the measure was designed to supply more troops for an aggressive Middle East anti-Soviet army. About 1500 persons demonstrated against the law in Tel Aviv on August 31.

Prime Minister Ben Gurion announced on August 17 that Israel would support plans for Middle Eastern "defense" organization sponsored by the United States and Britain. . . . When British Admiral Mountbatten, commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, visited Israel in August, protest demonstrations in Haifa told the admiral to "go home" because "he was not wanted in Israel."

A debate was held in the Knesset on August 20 concerning the acceptance by the Ben Gurion government of military "aid" from the United States. Mapam deputy Dr. Moshe Sneh asked Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett how such military aid could help Israel in case of an attack by Arab countries if the United States would at the same time send arms to the Arabs. Dr. Sneh also charged that acceptance of arms aid would subject Israel to control by a United States military mission.
